Torrance Rebekah Lodge Holds Institution Ceremony

Agnes Altnordhoff, vice-president of the Rebekah assembly of California, presided over the institution ceremony of Torrance Rebekah Lodge 347 I.O.O.F. Saturday afternoon, October 29 in the Torrance Masonic Temple.

Hettie Milligan, Noble Grand of Hawthorne Rebekah lodge 391, and her corp of officers initiated 36 candidates. Institution ceremonies were conferred on 75 members.

Nomination and election of officers followed. Katherine Vash was selected Noble Grand and the following officers will serve with her for the current term: Maud Milburn, Vice Grand; Grace Herd, recording secretary; Dorothy Rogers, financial secretary; Anna May Isbell, treasurer; William Brace, Olive Veatch, and Alice Jennings, trustees.

In the evening ceremonies

Four banner bearers, Mary Fine, Stelma Norris, Madeline Hand and Alice Jennings were seated.

Honored Guests

Honored guests introduced from the platform were Agnes Altnordhoff, Florence B. Bonetto, Dorothea N. Martin, and Lorna Roberson, from the Rebekah assembly of California.

Mrs. Vash presented Mrs. Altnordhoff with a gift made into the form of a horseshoe. The district deputy president and her marshal were presented gifts in wagons hitched to a star, carrying out Mrs. Grause's theme for the year.

The new lodge was presented many gifts from various groups of the order.

The Torrance Rebekahs will meet the second and fourth Wednesdays at 8 p.m. in the Masonic Temple. The district

CAPTIVE AUDIENCE . . . (l-r) Mrs. George Winters, Mrs. Gilbert Armstrong, Mrs. C. T. Bolles, and Mrs. Cleo Carter are completely under the spell of Major Arthur Knight, renowned hypnotist. Junior Woman's Hypnotist Really Fascinates Audience

By NORALEE BENEDICT

"First, I will hypnotize all of you," said Major Arthur Knight to the members of the Junior Woman's club and their husbands assembled for the recent dinner meeting.

"To give you added incentive," he continued, "a photographer is here from the newspaper to take your picture, and you will be able to see how you looked under the influence of hypnosis."

"It usually takes ten minutes for group hypnosis," he said.

deputy president, Mrs. Grause, will make her official visit Wednesday November 9. Retta Nelson is chairman for that evening.

Refreshments of cake and coffee were served in the dining room by Alice Jennings and her committee at the conclusion of the evening.

"but, with an intelligent group like this, we should be able to do it in eight minutes."

Everyone smiled politely, and the major went into action. He began by telling the group to relax completely inch by inch, his voice continuing in a steady, friendly monotone.

The members agreeably followed instructions, while the photographer waited alertly to snap the picture at the crucial moment.

The photographer stood some few feet back of the Major as he continued his rhythmic talk. The group began to slump slowly in their chairs, and proceeded to follow Major Knight's commands to lock their hands together. There they sat unable to pull their hands apart until the Major gave them the signal.

Crucial Moment

At this point, Knight whirled to the photographer and gestured to her to take the picture. The photographer stared pleasantly back at Major Knight, but didn't move.

The hypnotist continued to suggest various things for the group to do which would make good picture material, and each time he would turn to the photographer questioning. And each time he would be met with a blank stare.

At last, he had the group snap out of it, and he turned once more to look at the photographer to find her looking extremely embarrassed and feeling very foolish as she realized that she had just been hypnotized out of a picture.

Practical Usage

The Major explained that hypnosis is being used constantly in psychological treatment. With this method, it is possible to accomplish painless dentistry and childbirth; rid people of small fears of insects, high places, and stage fright; help in improving the memory, help people stop smoking, and aid people in losing weight.

He, then, took R. J. Setting, Robert Leech, Mrs. George Winters, Mrs. Gilbert Armstrong, Mrs. Clem Bolles, and Mrs. Cleo Carter onto the clubhouse stage.

He put them under and proceeded to tell them that they were six years old. One by one, in answer to his questions, they told him what kind of electric trains they wanted for Christmas, what their school teacher's name was, and whether or not they believed in Santa Claus.

In answer to the last question, one of the women said wistfully, "No, not any more, someone told me."

Just In Time

At this point, the photographer, who had been making various excuses for not being able to take the first picture, rushed forward, and flashed the camera, and dashed out.

I felt I had to get away rapidly because it had suddenly occurred to me that if I went under the Major's spell this time, I would really be lost. I was certain that at the age of six I wouldn't even be able to lift the camera, to say nothing of knowing how to work it.

Mrs. Robert L. Mowry is president of the Junior Woman's club and the chairman for the evening was Mrs. Phillip L. Hoffman, Jr.

Members of the committee were: Mmes. W. M. Montgomery, George Winters, Tom G. Halasey, James Van Dyck, Fred M. Hansen, G. F. N. Nedros, and J. Helphand.

Lomita Fuchsia and Garden Club Uses Halloween Motif

Mrs. Carl Stiles used the Halloween motif in decorating the tables for the refreshment hour at the Lomita Fuchsia and Garden society meeting held recently at the American Legion hall.

Lighted Jack-O-Lanterns and fall flowers were used throughout the room to give added effect.

Members and guests arrived in a colorful array of costumes. The first prize went to Mrs. A. Eborriaga, attired as a hobo; and second prize was awarded to Clyde Frey, who came as "Lotta Chatter." He was reported to have played the part very well, according to Mrs. Hazel H. Fay.

Guest Speaker Chelsea Hendrix of Hermosa Beach, professional floral arranger, demonstrated the arrangement of a gift for a host or hostess, added flowers or fruit to make a holiday centerpiece.

In this way the gift serves a dual purpose, first as a holiday decoration and later as a functional every day article.

He stressed the use of fall flowers and weeds which become a thing of beauty when arranged for a light and airy effect.

Festival Preparations Members brought canned goods to be sold in the country store section of the Fall Festival to be held Friday, November 18, at the American Legion hall, from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m.

This fund raising event is open to the public.

A plant sale followed the meeting, and refreshments were served by Mrs. Carl Stiles and Al Stubbs, acting in the absence of Mrs. John Slaughter who is in Denver.

Door prizes were won by Mrs. S. Stallings of San Pedro and John Martin of Gardena.

The next regular meeting on Friday, November 18, will feature Mrs. Sylvia Leatherman of Elmonte as guest speaker. She will speak on the subject of ferns.

The meeting is open to the public.

Alpha Omega Installs New Club Pledges

Installation of new pledges for the Alpha Omega Chapter of Theta Chi Epsilon, business and professional women's sorority was held recently.

The candlelight ceremony was presided over by the president, Dorothy Ton.

After each girl knelt and took the pledge, a tiny red rosebud and ribbon was pinned on her by her "big sister."

The ribbons were to be worn by the new girls during their months of pledging, until they become active members and are entitled to wear the gold sorority pin.

The five new pledges are: Helen Leazotte, Dolores Murray, Jean Brindisi, Claudette Borland, and Shirley Schott.

After the ceremony, hot apple pie and coffee were served.

Gives Awards

Cub Pack 728 held their monthly pack meeting at their usual rendezvous, the cafeteria of Fern Avenue school.

Halloween was the theme of the month, as far as the cubs were concerned. There were costume awards and Cub awards.
